Description: From 1968-1970 the institution offered 099 English and 099 Mathematics in a summer program known as the Remedial Reinforcement Program. Fall 1971-1974 this program was offered in a major semester. "Out of the Remedial Reinforcement Program developed the Department of Foundation Studies, funded for three years ...1974-1975 by Title III-AIDP money...1981 ...named a model project by the Joint Dissemination Review Panel of the Department of Education, Washington, DC....first post-secondary institution, previously funded by Title III, to be named a model project." (FSP Self-Study, 1998) The Remedial Reinforcement Program fell under the Division of Social Science and with successive organizational restructuring The Foundation Studies Program has been part of the College of Arts & Sciences, and the College of Humanities & Social Sciences. . In AY2009-2010 The Foundation Studies Program evolved into a stand-alone department, The Bridge Program..

Collection includes annual reports and action plans, assessment plans and reports, internal self-studies, consultative reports, and reports submitted to accrediting agencies. Prior to 1993 annual reports consisted of planning schedules that outlined departmental goals and objectives.
